

Where Will Old Age Find You?

Will it find you enjoying the comforts of your own home, with a lot large enough to furnish your living in fruits, berries, vegetables and poultry? You need not look forward to old age with dread and fear if you will begin buying such a home in your earning years. Instead of thinking of charity you can look forward to a life of content and independence if you will act now. If you are the husband, talk this over with your "better half," if you are the wife, talk it over with the "head of the family" when he comes home from his work. But, remember, that in order that you may provide for old age, you must take advantage of such unusual opportunities, when they present themselves, as we offer in

GLENWOOD ACRES

The location is ideal. Nature has done her part. The lots are 861x503 feet—a full acre. Less than one and a half miles from the business center. With the growth of the city in that direction, think what this will mean when Ogden's population is 100,000 or even 50,000. The values will increase themselves many times over.

The soil is fertile—a washed-in mountain loam. The water rights are primary and more than ample. The location is nearly frost free.

In the matter of conveniences the cement sidewalks are laid, the street-car and telephone service in operation. Arrangements are being made so that we can assure you that the city water service will be extended this summer.

Just picture you old age in such a home. All the conveniences of the city with the comforts and pleasures of the country. Your home nestling among the bearing fruit trees, with berry bushes and the vegetable garden yielding bounteous crops.

All this is within your reach. It will only take a little effort on your part. If our terms do not suit you, let us hear your proposition.

British House of Commons Takes a Final Action Upon the Marconi Company Case—Clear Ministers of the Charge of Grafting

London, June 20.—"Resolved, that this house, after hearing the statement of the attorney general and the chancellor of the exchequer in reference to their purchase of shares in the Marconi company of America, accords their expression of regret that such purchases were made and that they were not mentioned in the debate of October 11 last, and acquits them of acting otherwise than in good faith and rebukes the charges of corruption against the ministers which have been proved to be absolutely false."

With this sub-motion proposed by Sir William Ryland Dent Adkins, adopted by a vote of 246 to 268, the house of commons officially closed the Marconi affair last night.

The heavy guns of both parties—the prime minister, Premier Asquith and Sir Edward Grey in behalf of their colleagues under acquisition, and A. J. Balfour and Andrew Bonar Law for the conservatives—led the defense and attack. The proceedings were judicial and solemn. There were other speakers and some skirmishes occurred, but there were none of the pyrotechnics which Chancellor Lloyd-George and Lord Robert Cecil furnished yesterday. Even the members on the Irish benches, who usually can be depended upon to produce excitement, seemed strangely dispassionate. None of the old party skeletons were dragged from the closets as had been threatened. Both sides hesitated to begin the mud-throwing, partly perhaps because the newspapers had warned them that the country did not want such a spectacle, partly because they were uncertain which side would emerge from the affray most spattered.

The speeches of the prime minister and the secretary for foreign affairs gave the impression that the advocates were not enthusiastic over their clients. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Law had the appearance of forming a disagreeable duty. The vote on Sir William Adkins' amendment was strictly on party lines, the laborers and nationalists supporting the government although a few liberals and laborites refrained from voting. Afterwards the house adopted it as a substitute for the resolution introduced Wednesday by George Cave in behalf of the opposition without division.

Knowles, assistant postmaster at Philadelphia, Pa., was arrested by postoffice inspectors here yesterday, in connection with the alleged embezzlement of postal funds in the redemption department of the Pennsylvania postoffice. He said to have been employed in that department.

Knowles, who is 32 years old and has a wife, and two children has been traveling for a portrait firm in northern Iowa. The inspectors said they had been looking for him since April 21. The total amount involved in the alleged embezzlements is about $1000.

BLUNDERS OF DOCTORS

Woman Member of Medical Society Scores Her Colleagues for Poor Results in Treating Tuberculosis—Election of Officers

Minneapolis, June 20.—At a late afternoon session of the 64th annual convention of the American Medical association, the following officers were elected:

President—Dr. Victor C. Vaughn, Ann Arbor, Mich.

Vice Presidents—Dr. Walter Conway, Atlantic City, N. J.; Dr. Frank C. Todd, Minneapolis; Dr. Lillian South, Bowling Green, Ky.; Dr. S. G. Kahn, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Secretary—Dr. Alexander Craig, Chicago.

Treasurer—Dr. William Allen Pussey, Chicago.

Charges that the medical profession is to blame for the poor results against tuberculosis, caused an argument in the section of preventive medicine and public health at the convention this afternoon. Dr. Mary E. Lapham of Highland, N. C., said people are dying, not from tuberculosis, but from blunders, mistakes and ignorance, and that the medical profession is indifferent to the education which the public needs.

"Tuberculosis is a problem which demands education," said Dr. Lapham. "The people must be taught not to be afraid to go to a doctor, but to be afraid not to. Too many physicians make no early diagnosis. They wait for physical signs which would indicate to any fool that the patient had tuberculosis. The problem demands the raising of the standard of the medical profession. Tuberculosis is not all caused by transmission. It is a universal infection."

Dr. S. Adolphus Knopf of New York City defended the medical profession and said he did not like Dr. Lapham's pessimistic view.

Leprosy is steadily increasing in the United States, according to Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the United States public health service. Dr. Blue's address told of the continued propagation and spread of the disease. The doctor discussed the present state and federal laws relative to the disease and urged the advisability of government supervision. Measures for the control of the disease and the care of those afflicted are absolutely necessary, declared Dr. Blue.

POWER FOR PRESIDENT

Washington, June 20.—An amendment to the Underwood tariff bill, adopted yesterday by the majority members of the senate finance committee, would give the president of the United States authority to suspend certain rates in the proposed law and to proclaim special rates against nations which discriminate against products of the United States.

The amendment is appended to the clause giving the president authority to negotiate reciprocity agreements with other nations and in some respect resembles the maximum and minimum clause of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law eliminated in the house bill. In substance the amendment would provide that when any nation discriminates against the products of the United States or imposes restrictions upon United States exports, or in the opinion of the president does not reciprocate in trade relations, the president, by proclamation may suspend certain rates and put in effect other rates.

Only specified articles, it is understood to be included under the terms of this amendment and the retaliatory rates are specified also. Among the articles included in the list upon which the president might suspend rates are fish, wheat, flour, coffee, tea, earthenware, wines and malt liquors, silk dress goods, leather gloves, jewelry, sugars and molasses. The duties prescribed vary as to the different articles. Fish, it is reported, will be dutiable at one cent a pound, wheat at ten cents a bushel, flour at forty-five cents a barrel, coffee and tea a few cents a pound.

On other items the penalty would be a doubled rate, while on sugars, which probably never would be affected, the rate would be only a fraction of a cent per pound. The amendment, of course, is subject to ratification of the Senate and senatorial caucus, which will begin work on the bill tomorrow.

Besides adding this amendment, the majority members stripped the administrative provisions of the Underwood bill of many of its new features, including the inquisitorial clause, which gave American agents the right to examine foreigners' books in case of disputed import valuation. They also struck out the provision requiring the registry bureaus for commissioners and agents in consulates, the provision to give the secretary of the treasury the right to determine the existence or non-existence of a foreign market, the anti-dumping clause which provided excess duties on imports undersold in this country, and the five per cent tariff discount on imports in American vessels.

Having thus denuded the administrative section of its proposed reforms, the committee inserted an amendment providing for the appointment of a commission to be composed of members of the senate and the house and was means committee to make a thorough study of the whole tariff administration question, and report recommendations for its readjustment.

After reopening reconsideration of the print paper schedule today, the committee voted to reconsider its former action and struck out its amendment adding the countervailing provisions of the Canadian reciprocity law.

As the bill goes to the caucus, the Underwood provision remains undisturbed, print paper valued at not more than 2½ cents a pound going on the unrestricted free list.

WILSON RECEIVES JAPANESE PARTY

Washington, June 20.—President Wilson yesterday received Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, Kajinosuke Iwakura, president of the Federation of Christian Churches in Japan, and Tadao Kaniya, chief secretary of the chamber of commerce of Tokyo.

The delegation expressed themselves as highly pleased with their audience with the president. The president declared the Japanese had expressed themselves in a "most friendly and cordial way." He said it was a visit of compliment and entirely unofficial.

REORGANIZE THE SERVICE

Washington, June 20.—The first step toward the sweeping reorganization of the customs service, which goes into effect on July 1, was taken when Secretary McAdoo sent detailed instructions to collectors and officers of customs throughout the country to govern the collections of duties under the new system on all imports into the United States.

With the reduction of the number of customs districts from 182 to 49, the keynotes of the new regulations is a concentration of customs administration in the hands of the collectors at the headquarters of each district. Final appraisal of importations will be made by the appraiser at each port, an estimated amount of duties deposited and the merchandise immediately released. The appraisal then will be sent to the collector at the headquarters of the district where final liquidation will be made. The collector decides whether an appeal should be made to the board of general appraisers.

On the questions of classification the decision of the deputy collectors in charge of each port will be tentative. The collector at headquarters making final decision.

Collectors of customs along the Canadian border, who for years have enjoyed perquisites from the sale of manifests and other customs blanks, no longer will receive such gratuities which at some ports, where the statutory salary of the collector has been comparatively insignificant, have amounted to as much as $20,000 a year. In future the government will print these blanks and sell them to importers at one cent each, or importers will be permitted to furnish their own blanks.

Under the new regulations, the authority of the customs naval officers will be extended so that they will examine the accounts not only of the port at which they are stationed, but present, but of the entire district. No change will be made in the duties of the surveyors of customs who will confine their efforts solely to the headquarters port.

By the reduction in customs districts, 113 collectors automatically will lose their jobs on July 1, and other changes in personnel will be made to effect a large saving.

WILL NOT ADMIT HINDUS TO U. S.

Washington, June 20.—To check further complications of Pacific coast problems by unrestrained admission of Hindus and the Malay races of Asia to continental United States from the American insular possessions, Secretary of Labor Wilson, on recommendation of Commissioner General of Immigration Cammelt, made yesterday a far-reaching amendment to the immigration regulations. The modification authorizes immigration officials at mainland ports to reject aliens coming from the insular possessions, unless it should appear that at the time of entry thereto they were not members of the excluded classes or likely to become public charges.

This action was the outcome of the cases of three Hindus—Sohan Singh, Bhashan Singh and Sadhu Singh—who arrived at San Francisco from the Philippines and were detained on the ground that they might become public charges. The circumstances in this case caused Secretary Wilson to order the admission of the Hindus yesterday. Several thousand Hindus are in the Philippines and a large number in Hawaii. It has been the practice to open the doors of the United States proper to these races upon the presentation of certificates showing they were examined and passed at an American insular port of entry.

Commissioner General Cammelt explained today that the regulations were amended to empower immigration authorities on the mainland to pass upon the eligibility of Hindus coming from the insular possessions because, there is an obvious difference between an alien supporting himself in the Philippines for instance and supporting himself in the United States.

As the law does not specifically designate between entries in the United States and in the insular possessions, officials anticipate litigation over the amended regulations unless congress confirms them by statute.

PASSES ON WEBB LAW

Washington, June 20.—The Webb law, forbidding interstate shipments of liquor into "dry" states, is not a criminal statute, and violations of it cannot be prosecuted in United States courts, Attorney General McReynolds said yesterday in instructions to attorneys in the country. The law merely prohibits such interstate traffic and contains no penalty for infractions.

"Its purpose," said the attorney general, "is to permit state laws to operate in respect to intoxicating liquors moving in interstate commerce."

The law simply deprives shippers of any privileges they might claim on the ground of interstate commerce and permits the application of state prohibition laws to interstate commerce in liquors.

This is the first time the department of justice has construed the Webb law which was declared unconstitutional by former President Taft and former Attorney General Wickersham.

President Taft vetoed the bill on the ground that it made the interstate commerce clause of the constitution null.

It was passed over his veto. Attorney General McReynolds' interpretation is said to mean that the federal government is not called upon to enforce a law for the violation of which no penalty is imposed, and that the interstate commerce forbidden by the law is "outlaw" commerce in regard to which the states are free to apply their statutes. The attorney general did not attempt to pass upon the penalty of the act, and it is believed that this question ultimately may reach the United States supreme court.

CARBOLIC ACID ENDS LIFE OF CHRISTENSEN

Christian Christensen, known to his many friends as "Chris," a shoe and dry goods salesman, committed suicide at 7:30 o'clock last evening by taking carbolie acid in the alley back of the Misch pharmacy. Despondency over the loss of his position with the Walkover Shoe store is thought to have been the cause of the rash act.

Friends, who had noticed his state of mind and had heard him make threats against himself, had been keeping a watch over him, but he had eluded them and took more than half the contents of a four-ounce bottle before it was knocked from his hands by A. Anderson, his former employer. Dr. Doran, was summoned from his office on the corner and later Dr. Wardleigh and Whalen arrived, but the antidotes administered were of no avail against the quantity of the acid taken, and Christensen died at about 8 o'clock.

Sergeant O. H. Mohlman, who had responded to the call sent to the police, had the body removed to the police station while the father was notified of the affair. Later the body was taken to the Lindquist Undertaking parlors.

Because of indiscretions Christensen had been discharged from his position at the Walkover Shoe store 10 days ago. Yesterday he met Mr. Anderson and asked for his position again. Anderson stated that "he would be taken on as soon as business increased. This put Christensen in a downcast mood and when he left he exclaimed, 'I'm going to have it all over with; I'll kill myself.'"

Anderson remonstrated with the man and threatened to have the police watch him if he made any such threats again.

Later in the evening Christensen again saw Anderson and borrowed some money from him. It is believed that the poison was purchased with the money.

When Christensen was seen going to the rear of the store, Anderson told friends of the circumstances and a number decided to follow the man, but when they reached the rear of the drug store, Christensen was leaning against the wall and had drunk about two ounces of the acid. The bottle was knocked out of his hands by Anderson and the doctors were summoned, but the man died after suffering for a half hour.

The suicide was the son of Rasmus Christensen, 549 Twenty-first street. He was 32 years old and unmarried.

He denied the report published in Vienna that he had contracted to build six airships for the Austrian army.

PREVENT CARRYING OUT OF SUICIDE

Minneapolis, June 20.—Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Scherf are in jail, having been arrested because their neighbors notified the police they had heard the couple talking of a suicide pact. The attraction of Mr. and Mrs. Scherf attracted considerable local attention a few weeks ago when it was claimed that they eloped from an inebriate hospital at Wilmar, Minn., to become husband and wife.

Captain John Galvin of the police department and detectives attached to the central station say both admitted that they had planned to commit suicide because they could no longer endure their fight against the drink habit, and wished to die together.
